THE REBELLION

ANTI-GERMAN FEELING.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, Dec. 6.

There is intense anti-German feeling in Shanghai. The mob attempted to fire Messrs. Arnold, Karberg and Co's warehouses. The revolutionaries prevented them from effecting their purpose.

At Hankow the revolutionaries arrested a German for alleged espionage and handed him over to his Consul.

BOYCOTT THREATENED.

A boycott of Germans at Shanghai is contemplated on account of alleged selling of arms to the Imperialists.

WUZHANG CONFERENCE.

At Wuzhang a conference of representatives from eight provinces has drafted a constitution and has asked Yuan Shih-kai to be President.

GERMANS THREATENED.

Via Durban, Dec. 5, 9.25 a.m.
Reuter's Shanghai correspondent telegraphs that German firms have been anonymously threatened with death if they supply the Imperialists with munitions of war.—(Reuter.)

THE ARMISTICE.

Bombay, Dec. 3.

Reuter's Peking correspondent states that through the mediation of the British Consul at Hankow an armistice has been proclaimed during which the bases of an agreement will be discussed.

YUAN SHIH-KAI'S VIEWS.

Yuan Shih-kai believes that the situation is clearing. While he is working for peace through Hankow, Tang Shao-yi, whose headquarters are at Tientsin, is endeavouring to effect the same purpose in North China.

TELEGRAMS.

THE REBELLION.

THE PRINCE REGENT.

The Peking correspondent of the "Times" states that the Prince Regent, who has hitherto been the chief obstacle to a settlement, is prepared to abdicate.—(Reuter.)

GENERAL LI YUAN HENG'S IDEAS.

General Li Yuan Heng declared to a representative of the "China Press" at Hankow on the 24th ult.:

"Yuan Shih-kai will not be our resident, and we will have no further Manchu rule."

"China must be a Republic founded on lines laid down by the United States of America. The United States of China must be opened up with all speed, and for this purpose there must be a combined effort made with Chinese and foreign capital and Chinese and foreign labour."

"Confucianism will probably become the national religion, but I personally favour the doctrine of Christianity being proclaimed far and wide in China, and of encouraging missionaries to come in greater numbers to our country."

"Dr. Sun Yat-sen's party is not associated with our Republican Party, neither has he any authority from me."

"Wuchang must be the new capital, but I am desirous that the form of Government, after the Manchu rule is abolished, shall not alter very greatly, so that there shall be no disruption of trade and commerce and of diplomatic connections with the Empire and in foreign countries."

LABOUR AND DYNAMITE.

THE MACNAMARAS' CONFESSION.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Durban, Dec. 5.

The confessions of the brothers MacNamara have produced an immense sensation throughout America.

The prosecuting counsel declares that the Federal and State authorities are co-operating to uncover the most gigantic conspiracy ever conceived in America. He asserts that Mr. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labour, must have been cognisant of the guilt of the MacNamaras before they confessed.

The Federal Grand Jury has started investigations at Indianapolis, which was apparently the headquarters of the MacNamara gang, with a view of discovering the persons really responsible.

Meanwhile the Labour Unions throughout the country are disavowing the MacNamaras and demanding that they should receive the death sentence.—(Reuter.)

TELEGRAMS.

THE INSURANCE BILL.

REPORT-STAGE.

(Service to the Telegraph.)

Durban, Dec. 5.

The Commons has concluded the report stage of the Insurance Bill.

The Unionist amendment to graduate contributions according to wages was rejected by 175 to 105.

The House also rejected a Liberal amendment to reduce the contributions of Territorials, by 166 to 89 and an amendment by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald to reduce the contributions of workmen and employers by a penny, by 188 to 156. Messrs. Goldman and Foster, Unionist members, supported Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's amendment.

Mr. Lloyd George said that the reduction of a penny would convert the estimated surplus of £1,800,000 into a deficit of £1,200,000.—(Reuter.)

AN OPPOSITION MOVE.

Bombay, Dec. 6.

Upon the motion for the third reading of the Insurance Bill Mr. Foster will move the following Opposition amendment: "While approving of the objects of national assurance this House is of opinion that under the Bill the public funds and individual contributions will not be used to the best advantage of those most closely affected as the Bill has neither been adequately discussed in the House nor fully explained to the country. As it would in its present form be unequal in operation steps should be taken to enable further consideration next session and to have draft regulations published meanwhile."

RACEHORSE DEAD.

(Service to the Telegraph.)

Durban, Dec. 5.

The racehorse Janglaas has died suddenly at Clavely.—(Reuter.)

TELEGRAMS.

Via Durban, Dec. 5, 9.25 a.m.

Reuter's correspondent at Tehran states that the Majlis have dispatched cablegrams, especially to the British House of Commons and to the Russian Duma, but generally to the world parliaments, in connection with the Russian action. The women are most active, holding demonstrations, arranging processions, haranguing crowds in the mosque and squares and smashing windows in order to enforce a Russian boycott. The Persian Women's Society has wired to the suffrage committee in London, asking the help of English women.—(Reuter.)

GREAT BRITAIN'S PART.

Via Bombay, Dec. 5, 2.10 p.m.

In the House of Commons Mr. D. Adlam, replying to a question, stated that Great Britain had made representations to Russia on the subject of the demand of an indemnity from Persia.—(Reuter.)

THE OPIUM TRADE.

HAGUE CONFERENCE.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Bombay, Dec. 5.

The "Times" correspondent at the Hague states that the Opium Conference Programme Committee has drafted eight resolutions dealing only with opium and following generally the bases laid down at the Conference at Shanghai.

In deference to Portugal and the interests of Mexico it was decided to treat boiled opium as distinct from raw.

Separate resolutions will be drafted dealing with morphine and cocaine.—(Reuter.)

TELEGRAMS.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

GREY'S SPEECH.

(Service to the Telegraph.)

Durban, Dec. 5.

The Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, in a long and temperate statement in the Reichstag, replying to Sir E. Grey's speech, said that Germany's action was prompted by the Anglo-French disposition to settle the Moroccan Question by themselves. If this occasioned British warlike preparations Germany was not responsible.

He continued that he gladly shared Sir E. Grey's hope that better Anglo-German relations would prevail, but this would only be attainable if the British policy showed some positive evidence of goodwill.—(Reuter.)

THE AUSTRIAN SENSATION.

(Service to the Telegraph.)

Durban, Dec. 5.

Telegrams from Vienna state that General Schemua has succeeded General Hoetzendorf, as Chief of the Austrian General Staff.—(Reuter.)

BULGARIA AND TURKEY.

Via Bombay, Dec. 5, 2.10 p.m.

The Constantinople correspondent of Reuter reports that Bulgarian revolutionaries have blown up a mosque in the town of Ishtia, in Macedonia, with dynamite, twelve persons being killed and thirteen wounded.—(Reuter.)

TELEGRAMS.

STANDARD OIL CO.

MR. ROCKEFELLER

RESIGNS.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Bombay, Dec. 6.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller has resigned the presidency and his Directorship of the Standard Oil Co. He is succeeded by Mr. Archibald.

The majority of other officers directors have also resigned.—(Reuter.)

SOCOTRA LOOTERS.

THE KUALA WRECK.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Via Bombay, Dec. 5, 2.10 p.m.

A message received by Lloyd's from Aden states that the crew has left the Kuala, the steamer which a few days ago, on her voyage from Dundee to Singapore, went ashore off the rocks of Socotra. Everything movable has been plundered, and only the hull remains.—(Reuter.)

MANCHU PROSCRIPTIONS.

An Assassination League.

The revolutionary leaders in Shanghai reports the "N. C. Daily News" state that they have received trustworthy information that several high Manchu officials, among whom are said to be two Princes of the blood, have secretly formed a corps of about 700 Manchurian soldiers, who are "dare to die," with instructions to use any means to assassinate or kill about sixty leaders and prominent Chinese in the constitutional party.

The men wanted to be killed are divided into three classes: $100,000 is offered for the head of the first class; $30,000 is offered for the heads mentioned in the second class; and $10,000 for those in the third class.

Sun Yat-sen, Li Yuan-hung, Wang Hien, Tang Hsiao-lung, Chen Shao-tsang, Tang Shao-chien, Wu Ting-fang, Tseng Tsi-tsun, Chien Chang and three others mentioned are in the first class; the second class comprises twenty men such as Lan Tien-wei, Hsu Shao-ching, Li Ping-shu, Yu Ya-ching, Tang Wen-chao, Wan Tsung-yao, Chen Chin-tao, Yang Tu, Sun Pao-chao; and the third class comprises thirty men such as Lo Chieh, Lin Tiao-yuen, Shen Tung-woo, Yang Ting-tung and others. New names have been added to the list from time to time. It is also reported that it is the intention of the Manchus to do away with Yuan Shih-kai, as they consider him to be a dangerous man, but they will not take steps to kill him until the national affairs are settled.

TELEGRAMS.

AMERICAN POLITICS.

PRESIDENTIAL MESSAGE.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Durban, Dec. 5.

President Taft in his Message to Congress continued himself to the subject of Trusts. The Message emphasizes the efficacy of the decisions of the Courts in breaking up the Standard Oil, Tobacco and other Trusts and points out that there is nothing to prevent combinations for the sole purpose of economising in administration or plant.

Mr. Taft recommends the establishment of a Federal Commission, which shall closely supervise the issue of stock and bonds and to which such combinations could submit plans for future business.—(Reuter.)

THEIR MAJESTIES' TOUR.

DEPARTURE FOR DELHI.

(Service to the "Telegraph.")

Bombay, Dec. 6.

Their Majesties left for Delhi at 10.45 this morning.

RECEPTION TENT

DESTROYED.

Reuter's Delhi correspondent states that during a full rehearsal of the state entry, smoke was seen ascending from the tent, which proved to be from a fire that absolutely destroyed the magnificent tent where the King was to receive the Indian Princes.

The tent is irreplaceable and its destruction has caused a great sensation and is likely to upset the elaborate programme.

The cause of the fire is unknown.—(Reuter.)

BOXING.

LEWIS TO MEET LOGAN.

Bill Lewis drew down his $500 yesterday. Arrangements are being made, we understand, for Lewis to meet "Pug" Logan, champion of the Philippines, on February 8, and a return match with Terry Martin will probably take place in Shanghai in January. If the match with Logan falls through, December 23 will be the last seen of Lewis in Hongkong. Lewis is arranging a programme on that day, which will make up for the disappointing loss on Saturday last.

THE PRINCE AS SEAMAN.

His Royal Highness's Future.

The Prince of Wales concluded recently his period of training as a midshipman on board the battleship Hindustan, and had an opportunity of spending a few days with his parents and other members of the Royal Family before the King and Queen set out for India. To allow of his doing this he terminated his cruise about ten days earlier than was originally anticipated, but, subject to this exception, the original programme mapped out for him has been carried out in its entirety. A three months' cruise was arranged for him, and he has worked thoroughly hard for the whole of that period, less the few days deducted to permit of his seeing something of his parents before they set out for Delhi.

During the coming winter his Royal Highness will continue his studies at York Cottage, Sandringham, and while it is officially stated that the plans for his future have not yet been definitely made, it is understood that these studies are intended to be profitory to a course at one of great Universities.

The King and Queen have all been keenly desirous that the Prince should take up his duties seriously, and it is not in accordance with their majesties' wishes that he has been subjected to all the discipline and restrictions applied generally throughout the Service and not excused a single duty, however arduous or humble, on account of his exalted rank. Not the smallest exception or discrimination has been made in his favour, and to whatever high duties the duties the future may call him, he will have cause to be thankful for the thoroughness of the training imparted in that Service of which the King is himself so distinguished an ornament.

On board the Hindustan there have been some departures from general practice, but they have certainly not been discriminatory in his favour. Captain Campbell, who has had charge of his Royal Highness, was anxious to give him at least a fair insight into all departments of a great battleship, and as the programme had to be compressed into three months some modifications of the usual course of training were inevitable. The Prince has accordingly received his instruction from or through the head of every single department on board.

The young Prince is of a particularly modest and retiring disposition, and his apparent diffidence in public might easily be misinterpreted. To those most closely in touch with him he is known to be deeply and enthusiastically earnest in the discharge of any duty entrusted to him; but with his studiousness is associated marked brightness of disposition and the keenest intelligence. He is, like his father and grandfather, a particularly keen observer and astute critic of what goes on around him, and even when apparently most absorbed allows very few of even the minutest details to escape him. He has become deeply attached in the battleship and her company, and if his inclination alone were consulted the connection would not yet be severed. But while he has intense liking for the sea and for life in the British Navy, he will be among the first to realize that duty demands of him that he shall proceed to prepare himself for other and even higher duties in the public service.

The Midshipman and his Duties.

Captain H. H. Campbell, of the Hindustan, in the course of a conversation on Wednesday with a representative of the Press Association, said:—

The Prince of Wales has taken part in every duty that appertains to the working of a great battleship and has cheerfully and efficiently discharged the less agreeable as well as the most agreeable of his tasks. The day before yesterday, for example, he was hearing his share in "cooling ship," and you know what that means. He has worked hard in the gun-room and at drill and has, among other things, been associated with the landing of small armed parties. He has had to do his turn with a battalion and has had practical experience of the "toll" side of an inspection as well as of the "spectacular" side. Throughout the whole period of his training on board he has been an extremely hard worker, and has struck all those about him, high and low, as what we call "a live thing." It was obvious that he liked the life and earnestly endeavoured to do credit to himself and to those entrusted with his tuition in the various departments. He always appeared to get an intelligent "grip" of what was set him to learn, and his genuine interest prevented him from regarding any duty on board as too arduous. Everybody in the Hindustan will be sorry to lose so good a comrade and so intelligent a "man." I say "man" advisedly, because he has shown application and aptitude beyond what might have been reasonably expected. He is a thoroughly hard worker, and is in many respects far ahead of his years.

NAVAL WORK FOR THAMES

Discouraging Statement by Mr. Churchill

Mr. Churchill, the First Lord of the Admiralty, intimates that the chances of naval shipbuilding orders being given to the Thames next year are small. The statement was made to a deputation of London Liberal and Labour members, which waited upon him recently to urge the claims of the Thames in view of the contracts for the coming year. Mr. Churchill said he would bear in mind all the considerations which had been laid before him. But, first of all, he had to scrutinize closely the tenders submitted, and though he wished to interpret the rule relating to the lowest tender in an intelligent and liberal spirit there was a margin beyond which he could not go. After paying due heed to all the factors in the case, he intimated with regret that the outlook for the Thames was not very promising.

POSITION AT HANKOW.

Conflicting Reports.

The following is from the N. C. Daily News of Nov. 30:—According to yesterday's news from Hankow, received by wireless telegraphy, the official statement, quoted yesterday by our Peking correspondent, that Wuchang had capitulated is evidently wrong. The gates of the city were closed and there was no means of ascertaining what was passing within. A few shots were being exchanged between the forts of Wuchang and Han-yang. That the Imperialist are in full possession of Han-yang appears to admit of no dispute. Opinions are divided as to the ability of Wuchang to hold out against the Imperialist artillery at Han-yang. According to one side, Wuchang is well fortified and has plenty of cover; according to the other, the position of Han-yang is infinitely superior and the capture of Wuchang cannot long be delayed. Revolutionary leaders in Shanghai yesterday admitted that the Imperialist artillery at Han-yang was superior to their own. It is also worth noting that on the 24th Chinese in Hankow were beginning to say that if the Imperialists captured Han-yang, no serious attempt would be made to hold Wuchang. Meanwhile a Reuter telegram from Peking to London—and out again—says that the revolutionaries have asked for a three days' armistice in order to enable them to secure the other provinces' consent to the Government's terms, especially to the retention of the present dynasty.

Local revolutionaries yesterday were understood to be not averse from the idea of negotiation, while refusing to admit that the capture of Han-yang was in any way final.

—“And you must take Sanatogen regularly for several weeks”

This urgent advice is given by physicians every day, in every civilized country, to sufferers from Nervous Debility, Brain-fag, Lack of Vitality, Sleeplessness, Disorders of Digestion, Poverty of Blood and various Wasting Diseases.

Physicians know that Sanatogen is a true scientific compound of organic phosphorus and pure concentrated proteid, forming a new substance which is eagerly and completely absorbed by the tissues and possesses unique tonic and reconstructive qualities.

The Supreme Restorative.

Physicians can speak from experience of the great recuperative effects which Sanatogen has upon the brain, nerves, blood and muscles. They have watched its revivifying action upon people whose nervous strength has been depleted by over-work, worry or disease. They have noted how Sanatogen gives lasting benefit, how it regenerates the appetite and digestion, brings back the bloom to the cheek, replaces wakeful nights by sound refreshing sleep—in short, enables the human machinery to perform its functions so perfectly that the patient loses his depression of spirits, gains confidence and courage, and finds life again worth living.

Fighting Malaria and Dysentery.

Apart from its value as a general tonic, Sanatogen is of the greatest service to the physician in fighting Malaria, Dysentery and other scourges of tropical climates.

On this subject, Dr. H. H. W. H., of Bangalore, United Provinces, writes:—“I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of Sanatogen in cases of Dysentery, Enteric Fever and other exhausting diseases. I have used it regularly in my practice for the past two years, and in no single instance have I been disappointed with its results. I can honestly affirm that many of my worst cases owe their recovery to Sanatogen.”

Try Sanatogen To-day.

At the head offices of the manufacturers of Sanatogen there are filed more than fourteen thousand letters from practicing physicians who certify to the value of Sanatogen. Truly a magnificent monument to the value of this unique tonic-food! But no less impressive is the enthusiastic testimony of patients themselves. Thousands of well-known people in every walk of life have publicly testified to the wonderful benefits they have received from Sanatogen, and a few of their letters are reproduced here.

Begin to take Sanatogen to-day, and thus lay the foundation of new health and nerve force. You can get Sanatogen in Hong Kong from Messrs. A. S. Watson & Co.; The Sincere Co., Ltd., 215/21, Vyse Street; and of all Chemists.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Robertson, Judge of the Supreme Court, Lahore, Punjab, writes:—“My experience with Sanatogen has been very favourable. I took it for some months during the most trying season of the year, and found it a great strengthener.”

Mr. Charles A. Cameron, C.B., M.D., etc., writes:—“Sanatogen is a substance of the highest nutritive value, containing as it does a large amount of organic phosphorus, in exactly the form in which it can be easily absorbed. It is an excellent nerve food.”

Mr. Shirley Tremaine, Editor of “Capital,” 38, Clive Street, Calcutta, writes:—“I cannot speak too highly of Sanatogen, it not only kept me up during a sharp attack of fever, but afterwards restored me once more to full vigour. In fact, I was better and stronger after this course of Sanatogen than before the attack.”

“The Medical Times” says:—“There is no doubt whatever that the nutrition of patients taking Sanatogen improves wonderfully, due, in all probability, to its being easy of assimilation and to the organic absorbable phosphorus which it contains.”

Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P., the popular Novelist, writes:—“20, Carlisle House Terrace, S.W.—I have used Sanatogen with extraordinary benefit. It is to my mind a true food tonic, feeding the nerves, increasing the energy, and giving fresh vigour to the over-worked body and mind.”

Prof. Dr. C. A. Ewald, of Berlin University, writes:—“I have used Sanatogen in a number of cases, mainly of a nervous or neurasthenic origin, and have obtained excellent results.”

TWENTY FIVE HOURS ON A RAFT.

Sole Survivor of a Crew of Eleven.

Landed at Grimsby by the German steamship Gretchen Muller, H. Frenneson, the mate of the Swedish barque Hestia, told a thrilling story of shipwreck. The Hestia, with a crew of eleven, was overtaken by storm while in the North Sea.

The barque sprang a leak, had her boats and masts torn away by the heavy seas, and drifted helplessly before the gale until she finally sank. The captain and all the crew had donned lifebelts, and Frenneson stated that he saw his companions swimming about for a time in the heavy sea, but is of opinion that ultimately they all sank.

Frenneson saved himself by seizing a part of the barque's cabin as it drifted past. This made him a sort of raft. A sea chest which he also recovered he lashed to the raft, and made an improvised sail out of some canvas. He had neither food nor water, and owing to the heavy seas was unable to sit down on his raft. Drenched to the skin, he clung to the sea chest and drifted about for twenty-five hours, when the Gretchen Muller sighted him and picked him up. He was then in a very exhausted condition.

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1911.

RUSSIA AND PERSIA.

International situations have a habit of developing with extraordinary suddenness. Persia, after the conclusion of the Anglo-Russian Agreement defining those countries' respective spheres of influence, had settled down into what for that land of turbulent politics was a state of quietude. It is true that faulty administration led to the British authorities insisting upon policing the communications in the South Persia, which had been abandoned to the untender mercies of bandits, but there seemed little likelihood of any international complication developing in consequence. In North Persia, as far as appearances went, there was as little danger of trouble. Beneath the surface, however, forces were at work which were bound sooner or later to burst through the crust of calm. The Persians never regarded the Anglo-Russian Agreement with favour. They looked upon it at the best as a degrading sign of their national helplessness, and at the worst as the preface to partition. With the Persian view Mr. Morgan Shuster, the Treasurer-General, seems to have been in the main agreed. Mr. Shuster is known to be a remarkably able, high-principled official who did valuable work at Manilla for the Insular Government. The consensus passed upon him by Sir Edward Grey was thoroughly deserved. Unfortunately, however, he seems to have failed to appreciate the delicacy of the situation and to understand that, while personal opinions in regard to the motives that prompted the conclusion of the Anglo-Russian Agreement might fairly be held, they could not with advantage be given free utterance to by a foreign official in the employment of the Persian Government. The encouragement that such action would give to the ultra-nationalist Persian party, who saw in the Agreement a menace to the integrity of their country, was calculated to precipitate the very calamity of which they stood in fear. Mr. Shuster's anti-Russian policy has had the effect of arousing Russian anger, and action has been taken that may result in a further curtailment of Persia's freedom of action, and possibly in the complete loss of her independence.

The appeal to the House of Commons, the Duma and other Parliaments will excite sympathy, but will not enlist help. When last year the historic Empire of Korea disappeared from the family of nations there was sympathy from many quarters, but there was no talk of intervention. It was felt then, and a similar view would probably be taken of the passing of Persia, that whatever sentimental regrets might attend the loss of nationality, a people who had shown an utter lack of capacity to rule themselves would be better off materially beneath the rule of a race more enlightened. One of the adamant laws of existence is that the inefficient must give way to the efficient—a law more lasting than those of the Modes and Persians, which have fallen from their high place to become a meaningless catch phrase—and a process is steadily at work which is making for the extinction of nations which have no claim to recognition but an honourable past. Efficiency in the individual, organization and nation is the sole passport to success, and glories of the past are outweighed by utility in the present. Persia has only been saved from absorption because more than one nation is materially interested in her fate. While absorption may be avoided partition is always a possible danger and possibility may give way to probability before much more water flows under the bridge.

The third of the winter series of Organ Recitals at St. John's Cathedral was given yesterday afternoon by Mr. Donnan Fuller, when a large attendance was made. Chopin's Rain Prelude was another item which also calls for special praise.

UNREST IN HONGKONG.

Exemplary Punishment.

The wave of disorderly spirit which has been passing through the ranks of Hongkong's rowdy element was responsible this morning for a prosecution and conviction at the Police Court.

The case was one in which an 18-year-old houseboy in the employ of a Parsee residing in the Central Hotel in Queen's Road was charged before Mr. E. A. Irving with throwing an earthenware basin at a Police picket last night. Fortunately a lynx-eyed Chinese detective who was following the picket some distance behind with the object of maintaining a lookout for any suspicious characters, caught the offender red-handed in the act of hurling the strange missile in the midst of the picket. This morning the man was brought up before Mr. Irving at the Magistracy and Mr. P. P. J. Wedehouse, Deputy Superintendent of Police, asked his Worship to order 24 strokes of the cat, as a lighter sentence would scarcely constitute a deterrent to future offenders. His Worship remarked that as this was the first case of the kind, he would fine the defendant $25 or two months' hard labour and further ordered 12 strokes of the cat to be administered.

Since last night there have occurred two other cases of stoning the Police in which the culprits could not be detected.

CANTON NEWS.

(Telegraph Correspondent.)

Canton, Dec. 5.

About 10 a.m. yesterday a bomb exploded in a house occupied by some Heungshan troops. Two men were killed and four wounded.

An endeavour is being made both in Canton and Hongkong to induce Chinese girls and women to become recruits for the revolutionary army. They are especially required for the "Death during" corps. The matter has come before the Governor General who in a proclamation says he had no intention of recruiting women.

Cantonese newspapers have been busy denouncing the manner in which the new Government is being conducted. The editors now stand accused by the Commissioner of Police of committing a breach of the peace.

The Governor General and the adjutant general general attended a reception yesterday, and the former, addressing an audience of about 600 people, said that since he had been appointed their leader he considered it his duty to do everything for the satisfaction of the people.

A BROTHER'S DEBTS.

Dispute over Guarantee.

In the Supreme Court this morning, before the Chief Justice, Sir Francis Piggott, and Mr. Justice Gompertz, the trial was commenced de novo, of the case in which Li Po-hung sued the Yik Lung Bank, Li Lung-shi, Li Po-lun, and Li Po-yang, for $82,212.40, being amount paid by plaintiff into the Imperial Bank of China, to be used with interest, and expenses incurred by the plaintiff in raising the said amount on mortgage as surety for the Yik Lung Bank under a contract made in 1904. By this contract plaintiff was a minor, guaranteed the repayment, to the Imperial Bank of China, of sums to the extent of $150,000 which might thereafter become due to the Yik Lung Bank.

Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C. and Mr. C. G. Albaster, instructed by Mr. Bonvis, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Eldon Potter, instructed by Messrs. Britton and Hetti, appeared for all the defendants, except the Yik Lung Bank.

At the outset, before pleadings were opened, Mr. Potter raised the point that the case against one of the defendants, Li Po-chun, had been withdrawn by the plaintiff since the hearing of the first trial. They had deliberately withdrawn the action against a signatory of the guarantee, a person who was absolutely unnecessary party, inasmuch as if they were found liable, they would be entitled to ask Li Po-chun to pay his share and so lessen the amount the others would have to pay.

Mr. Justice Gompertz: Do you want him made a party?

Mr. Potter: I submit that the action is bad unless he is admitted.

Mr. Pollock pointed out that defendants could have applied to join Li Po-chun.

The Chief Justice: What do you want us to say?

Mr. Potter: I want the position of Li Po-chun made clear.

So you want the case dismissed?

Yes.

After further discussion their Lordships decided to make no order.

After the pleadings had been opened Mr. Pollock submitted that in the present state of the pleadings, the plaintiffs were entitled to succeed, subject to the defendants proving the pleas they had put forward.

The Chief Justice: That is to say the other parties have to begin.

Mr. Potter: I am ready to begin at once.

Addressing the Court, counsel said that the plaintiff and the defendants were brothers, sons of Li Sing, who was managing partner in the Yik Lung Bank. He died in 1900 and his son Li Pak carried on the business. In 1904 being in need of money the bank endeavoured to raise loans and Li Pak suggested to the members of the family that they should enter into a guarantee for the amount, $150,000.

Mr. Justice Gompertz: There is a high official in Canton of that name.

Mr. Potter: That's the man. Mr. Albaster: He is only ex-potant, my Lord (laughter).

In 1905, the Imperial Bank of China and other banks began to press for payment Li Pak and the Yik Lung Bank had both incurred debts and the brothers agreed to pay them. Plaintiff paid a sum of $80,000 odd, and was claiming a contribution from the co-signatories to the guarantee.

The case was proceeding when we went to press.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The Socotra Wreck.

In view of the telegram published elsewhere in regard to the sinking of the steamer Kusla at Socotra, the following from the "Straits Times" of Nov. 28 in reference to the wreck, is of interest:—This occurrence is the most serious happening that has befallen the Straits Steamship Co. for many years, if not for the period of its whole existence. The Kusla represents the highwater mark in their progress and is undoubtedly the finest boat the company has yet acquired. She was launched from the yard of the Calcutta Shipbuilding Co., Dundee, on September 6. The act of releasing her from the stocks was performed by Miss H. Somerville, of Edinburgh, and she was christened by Mrs. McArthur, Captain Sanderson, who was on leave, took charge of the vessel for the voyage to the East. The Kusla is built on the best plan of the recently acquired steamer Klang, which has been running on the west coast now for a month or two. Built to the best class in the British Oceanic Register for special trade, and also to the Board of Trade requirements for carrying passengers and cattle, her principal dimensions are:—In length overall, 236 feet; breadth, moulded, 35 feet, 6 inches; and depth, moulded, 14 feet, 2 inches.

No Jealousy.

A correspondent sends this:—Yesterday's "Telegraph" published the statement, culled from a contemporary, that an Assassination League had been formed for the removal of certain of the revolutionary leaders. It may not be much in the way of actual knife or bomb work, but it may serve quite another purpose. Who knows but that it may set the rebel leaders at variance? The gentlemen priced at only $50,000 may want to know who the Jacksons the $100,000 men are anyhow to be priced so high. What do you think? We can only reply that if, in a case of this kind, our correspondent, (for example) were priced twice as high as ourselves we should conclude that he had twice as good a chance of having his young activities cut short. And we should let him have the honour of the extra dollars without even a twinge of jealousy.

An Aid to Longevity.

We have heard of many more or less valuable aids to longevity, but personally we draw the line at eating snakes in order to add a few more years to our allotted span. All the same, we pass along the good news, called from an Indian contemporary, for those who are in search of a reliable and cheap youth restorer:—In the Makhzou-ul-advayali, a famous book in the Unani medical practice, among many advantages derived by the use of serpent's flesh, it is given out that it cures white leprosy and the yearly use of it prolongs life. It was related in my years ago by a reliable person that the late Wajid Ali Shah, the King of Oudh, ate a cobra's flesh was given to forty cooks and then a cook's flesh daily was given to the remainder and the last cook was eaten by him. In this district in the beginning of the winter season the Muslims eat serpents and there are used warm oilings and fire and sheep in order to rid them of the cold.

THE GREAT DYNAMITE CASE.

A Wheel Within a Wheel.

The question is often asked, "How does it come that the fight against the 'Times' by the International Typographical Union can be twisted into the destruction of the building by the Structural Iron Workers and the McNamara crowd?"

Let us go back a little for that. Previous to the formation of the American Bridge Company, which occurred about Nineteen Hundred Two, the Structural Iron Workers and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of North America had everything their own way. They are a rough class of men, careless of life and property, and drawn mostly from the class of sailors who were crowded out of their occupation by the introduction of steam for sailing vessels.

The officers of the organization ran the price per hour up from twenty-two cents to as high as twenty-five cents per hour. And the price of labour went up the deteriorated in quantity as quality, and the Bridge companies and the erections of the try were at their wit's end. Workers were drunk on sue- and their one animating live was to get as much and do as little as possible. The employers' interests and the rights of the public were waived or scouted. Some one formed the American Bridge Company, which is a consolidation of Keystone, King Bridge and other large companies—just to handle this labour problem. The smaller concerns, left on the outside of the trust, found themselves up against it. So they formed what is known as the National Erectors' Association, of which Walter Drew is the active head.

They decided, after they had come to an agreement with the American Bridge Company—about Nineteen Hundred Three or Nineteen Hundred Four—that the time was ripe for them to try to get control of their business. So in the city of New York they began to make preparations for the Open Shop, in the erections of buildings.

The Erectors' Association had quarters in Union Square, and during the fight of the first year their headquarters were blown up with dynamite six times during the Summer.

But the National Erectors' Association won its fight in New York City for the Open Shop, and cleaned out that class of structural-iron workers who were causing all the trouble, and these men, out of a job and sore, drifted West, like the tide of Empire.

This was particularly true after the earthquake. In the early part of this trouble the American Bridge Company entered into the California market, and succeeded in putting their buildings up with Open Shop material.

When the fight was being carried upon the Structural Iron Workers' Union, the headquarters were moved to Indianapolis, which was under a sort of home of international headquarters of various Unions.

At one time there were as high as eleven there.

All labour-unions have a community of interests, and all those that have headquarters in Indianapolis are affiliated with the American Federation of Labour, of which, of course, as we all know, Mr. Gompers is the head.

We now come to the point of the destruction of the Los Angeles "Times" building and the various dynamiting outrages. There have been in the last three years sixty-seven cases of dynamiting, where bridges were destroyed.

But in no single instance has there been destruction of bridges or buildings where there was not a controversy on between the open and closed shop idea.

In other words, where the work was being done under the control of the Structural Iron Workers

Union, there never was any dynamiting. But in every one of the sixty-seven instances that were published by the New York "World," the work was being done by non-union labor in opposition to the Structural Iron Workers' Union.

Now, as to the community of interests, and the connection between the International Typographical Union and the Structural Iron Workers: In the unionizing of Los Angeles, or rather its attempt, the whole matter was under the control of Plug Hat (P.H.) McCarthy, who recognized that as long as Los Angeles was not under the domination of the California Federation of Labour, his control of the State was not complete. In his address before the Federation, in convention at Denver, he promised if given support and control of money, he would whip Los Angeles into line, and through the American Federation of Labour over one hundred fifty thousand dollars was collected and spent in this effort.

The fight was on through the International Typographical Union, which gradually spread under the auspices of the California Federation of Labour. The original fight of the International Typographical Union then became a fight to unionize every trade in Los Angeles, and naturally embraced the Structural Iron Workers on account of the erection of steel skyscrapers. Naturally, the Los Angeles "Times," being the voice of the opponent of the closed-shop idea, and being a powerful one, was the red rag to the bull. And it was openly stated that the stumbling-block to the success of Union Labor was the "Times."

The International Typographical Union has made a fight for the eight-hour day in every part of the country, including Canada.

There has been lawlessness, but never dynamiting except in the Los Angeles "Times" instance.

The Llewellyn Iron Works explosion is another instance where in there seemed to be no connection between the Structural Iron Workers and the Company, but in this instance it was the machinists and allied trades that had a grievance.

At the same convention of the American Federation that took action in creating the Los Angeles Fight Fund, there was organized a Metal Trades' Division, which meant that the various trades working in metal under one roof or in one city would have a Federation and a head which would have power and authority over and above the authority granted by trade autonomy.

The Metal Trades took in machinists, moulders, blacksmiths, structural-iron workers—in fact, any and every metal mechanic engaged in any and every business which affected any of the trades just mentioned.

Who Did This Foul Thing?

In the jail at Los Angeles, there are now awaiting trial, three men under indictment for dynamiting. These men are all prominent in the ranks of Union Labour.

A large sum of money has been raised by Union Labour for the defence of these men. Their innocence has been loudly protested, and their arrest hotly denounced.

Into the fight the Socialists have butted in. Any and every Socialist paper reveals the attitude of our Socialistic comrades—their sympathies are all with these indicted alleged dynamiters.

No one claims that Union Labor, as a whole, nor the Socialist Party, as a party, was engaged in dynamiting. But that the dynamiting was done by members of a union, no sane or honest man will dispute; and that popular Socialism sympathizes with the dynamiting is also true.

From these things, we draw two inferences:

First: Union Labour, unchecked, would develop into violent and destructive anarchy.

Second: Socialism is a sentiment, and this sentiment, encouraged, abetted and evolved, would lead to revolution, with dynamiting and destruction as a prominent and recognized part of its propaganda.

Conclusion: Union Labour and Socialism, as they now exist in America, are not constructive nor upbuilding in character, but tend toward violence, destruction and dissolution, and are therefore essentially un-American.

SECRET HISTORY.

Did British Naval Power Avert a War?

The article which follows is from the "Daily Express" and purports to be an account of the extremely critical situation which arose at a certain stage of the Franco-German negotiations on the question of Morocco. If it is true, it means that once again the power of the British Navy has averted a European war.

Three months ago Germany had Europe by the throat. The whole world seemed to be under the domination of the Mailed Fist. To-day Germany is still formidable, still dangerous, still eager to impose her will on the world, but for the present she is powerless.

Few people know the secret of this sudden turn-about. Few, indeed, know that only a few weeks ago Europe was on the verge of a great and terrible war, which was only averted at the eleventh hour by the intervention of Russia and Great Britain.

It is no longer adding fuel to the fire to recall the history of the events which gave the Cubans of England, France, Russia and Austria hours of the most acute anxiety and apprehension. The crisis is over for the moment. It may be over again. It probably will, for Germany will scarcely sit calmly under the repression which she has been forced to undergo owing to the abrupt failure of her rancorous diplomacy. When Germany forced her claims in Morocco and invited the French Government to discuss the position, the French Foreign Office stated firmly that they would not receive from the principle laid down that Germany's action was virtually one of diplomatic piracy. They would not discuss the principle, though, for the sake of peace, they were willing to discuss minor details affecting the rights of German traders. The British Government acquiesced in this view of the French position. The negotiations proceeded, and the German demands became more and more arbitrary and exorbitant, until it was evident that Germany's object was to obtain either a complete surrender of the French case or to make war without delay. The critical moment arrived on a Monday afternoon. It was confidently expected that the Kaiser's order to move his army corps on the French frontier would be given that day. Now came two communications which completely altered the situation. The British Government, impressed by the dignity, the firmness, and the consistency of the French negotiators, notified them that the British Fleet and the British Army would be thrown into the scale immediately on the side of the French.

The Russian Ambassador in Paris proceeded to the Quai d'Orsay and informed the French Government that if France were attacked by the Germans the Russian army would at once move to the German and Austrian frontiers, one section to hold back Germany's eastern armies and the other to detain the Austrians. This information, official and irrevocable in its importance, was at once laid before Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, the German negotiator, who lost no time in acquainting the Emperor with the new phase. The German army did not move, and the German fleet did not sail. The British Fleet was at Cronstadt, ready for action.

The Kaiser gave instructions to "resume" negotiations on a new basis, and the interested Governments knew at once that Germany had climbed down with a sadly damaged diplomatic prestige. The negotiations continued, and it is likely that Germany will again attempt to increase her demands, particularly in view of the information which has just reached official Germany that the Sus country in Morocco is enormously rich in minerals. The claim will probably be made that the Sus country is not Morocco, and that France should consider it a separate territory. There is no immediate cause for apprehension. The determination of France not to be humiliated and the British and Russian offers to take a hand have had a momentary effect of settling matters. Without the British Fleet the war would have come. There is no doubt of that. And the British Cabinet of Downing Street, which spent an anxious day and night, have probably had occasion to be grateful to "seamongers" like the "Express," which forced them to place the fighting forces of the nation on a stronger and more dependable plane. Again it has been demonstrated that the only thing that ensures peace in Europe is an invincible British Navy. In the meantime the situation has become somewhat complicated by Italy's independent action in Tripoli. Italy is nominally a member of the Triple Alliance, but no European statesman believes that she would ever have sent a man across her frontiers on its behalf. She might have made demonstrations, but masterly inactivity would have characterized her attitude if called upon to defend the Triple Alliance.

Germany has always looked upon Italy as a broken reed, and now that the Italians have attacked Germany's favourite, Turkey, the irritation and perplexity in Berlin are manifest in the frequent derogatory remarks about Italian statesmanship and Italian civility. The flagrant bit of brigandage on the part of Italy has certainly not strengthened her position in the Triple Alliance. In Austria it is stated with apparent seriousness that Italy was urged to her actions in Tripoli by British diplomacy, the latter, of course, being held solely responsible for Germany's diplomatic failure. Austria's discomfiture, and Turkey's distress. In fact, John Bull is once again looked upon as the Continental mischief-maker who profits by the misfortune of the others. The fact is that John Bull has sat stolidly by, watching the others make a hash of this gas and bringing Europe to the brink of a volcano, and, at the last moment, by the aid of a promise to use a fleet which maintains its supremacy in spite of all attempts to weaken it, he has enforced peace when otherwise there would have been the war of centuries.

Little Navyites, Scappers, and anti-Militarists will do well to ponder over this. Incidentally, it may be stated that since the recent crisis, which nearly made it necessary to denude this country of trained troops, the Government have begun to look with a more sympathetic eye on the question of Universal Service.

"OLIVET TO SALVARY"

Mr. J. Maunders' sacred cantata, "Olivet to Salvary," will be presented by the joint choir of St. Andrew's, Kowloon, and the Union Church, Hongkong, on December 13 and 20 respectively. The soloists will be Mrs. G. L. Platt (soprano), Mr. Emmett (bass) and Mr. S. Moore (tenor). The choir numbers forty voices, and Mr. E. D. Chapman will preside at the organ. The performance on the 13th by St. Andrew's choir is in celebration of the anniversary of the laying of the foundation stone, which took place six years ago. A collection will be made during the performance.

A BITTER PILL.

A funny story is told of a certain wealthy tradesman who, on retiring from business, erected a mansion in an aristocratic neighbourhood, and who with his family commenced to cultivate social relationships with their stylish neighbours. Unfortunately for their ambitions, the high-toned people of the locality proved to have the usual prejudices against trade, and showed themselves so exclusive that after a series of snubs the newcomers could endure it no longer, and determined to dispose of their residences and quit the neighbourhood.

But the baffled tradesman did not propose to go without leaving some mark of his resentment and a huge notice-board erected at his gate sent a thrill of horror through the veins of all the blue-blood residents in the neighbourhood. It bore the words:

This Desirable Residence Let or Sold. Suitable for a Fever Hospital or High-Class Laundry.

Ultimately, so the story runs, the place was sold at a sacrifice, the owner cheerfully foregoing a large portion of its value on condition that the house should be exclusively used as a lunatic asylum. It has been a bitter pill to the tradesman's former neighbours.
